DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1, 8, 11, 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The phrase “wherein the coronary sinus has a natural curvature, the curvature of the second shape being different that the natural curvature of the coronary sinus”, has not been previously disclosed and the above new limitations are not disclosed in the specification. For example, nowhere in the specification disclose that the curvature of the second shape is different that the natural curvature of the coronary sinus.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 8, 11, 13, 14 and 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mehra US Patent 5,170,802.

Mehra discloses an assembly comprising a guide wire (118) visible under X ray, a resilient mitral valve annulus device (100), an elongated introducer (116), a releasable locking mechanism (120) configured to releasably lock the device to the introducer (116) and a guide tube (121) having an inner lumen dimensioned for receiving the device and introducer when the device and introducer are received on the guide wire.

Regarding claim 1, it has been held that the recitation that an element is “configured to”, “adapted to” or “for” perform a function are not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Expressions relating the apparatus to contents thereof during an intended operation are of no significance in determining patentability of the apparatus claim. Ex parte Thibault, 164 USPQ 666, 667 (Bd. App. 1969).

The Examiner believes that the stent of the Mehra reference is capable of performing the functions of the Applicant's invention. The stent as disclosed in col. 4, lines 8-12 and US Patent 4,830,003 (incorporated by reference) clearly show a stent that is capable of being expanded and reshape any body lumen. The stent is capable of being deformed by a balloon in order to create a specific shape.

Regarding claim 1, the Examiner has not given patentable weight to the “wherein” clause because a “wherein” clause that merely states the result of the limitations in the claim adds nothing to the patentability or substance of the claim. See Texas Instruments Inc. v. International Trade Commission, 26 USPQ2d 1010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); Griffin v. Bertina, 62

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
